

- What do I want to learn or understand better?

I want to learn more about working in sprints. More specifically I want to learn more about how to decide what is a good workload for each sprint.

The framework that we have chosen to work with is also new to me so i want to take a look at that too.

- How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

In our team we are all new to some parts of the development environment and I think it's going to go a lot smoother if we help each other setup the development environment and find good tutorials together. For short I can help people understand the parts of the project that I understand well.

- What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

I tried to contribute to the social contract with some things that make it easier to work together. For example not being afraid to ask for help and alerting people in the group if they don't understand something.

- What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

The deliveries this week were mostly regarding the social contract and what project we want to work with. I tried to facilitate the conversation about what project we choose as people in our team have slightly different priorities. Some people want to use specific languages/frameworks that are used in the market and others care more about what external stakeholder we choose.