

What do I want to learn and understand better?

I have spent most of my time working with React and thus I still have a lacking understanding of the backend of the project. Getting more understanding of spring would be nice but might not be the best priority for our project.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

I can document my code well in order to make it easier for the team to understand what my code does to help them learn more about React.

What is the contribution towards the team's use of scrum?

I helped with the sprint planning, evaluation and I got a good amount of tasks done which I'm very happy with. I also helped discuss some solutions to criticisms that we got from our supervisor (handledare).

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I've worked a lot on the project this week and got my tasks done and helped others with their tasks.
