Individual Reflection - Week 2

Summary of the week

During the second week, we had to deliver the project scope, a business model canvas, a mock-up, and a description of the project scope. We had several meetings during the week regarding these deliveries.

What do I want to learn or understand better?

I want to learn more about React and Springboot. I believe these concepts take a while to master, as these are all new concepts for me. Additionally, I ought to further my knowledge in the practices of Scrum. I want to improve my ability to create Epics, User Stories, and Acceptance Criteria, as these are very important to define the scope of the project and how the sprints will be defined.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

I believe I can help the team substantially on how to work agile and the principles of Scrum. Thus, I try to help facilitate an environment where my team members feel comfortable exploring creative ideas and new ways of thinking. To be able to implement an agile project and the principles of scrum, there needs to be a continuous discussion regarding the matter.

What is my contribution to the team's use of Scrum?

I always try to stress the importance of implementing Scrum for this project. I know there are other priorities within the group, such as technical aspects. However, I believe that someone reminding the group about the framework is beneficial in order to not lose the purpose of this project.

What is my contribution to the team's deliveries?

This week I created the project scope, business model canvas, and the mock-up. I brought all of these to the meetings to gain consensus from the rest of the group. As I have a greater understanding of these concepts in comparison with the more technical details, I felt it was great to be able to contribute to the team's deliveries this week. Next week, I will probably need more support from my team members in order to deliver what has been agreed on in the first sprint.
