Rasmus Otterlind week 4 individual reflection

What do I want to learn and understand better?

I want to learn more about the spring framework so that I can be more helpful on the backend of the project.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

I can show people in the group how to use the react framework and the basics of git.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of scrum?

I helped break down the user stories into tasks. The first week went well and I got my tasks done and I'm happy with the results.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I helped with the team reflection for the week and I also helped on several tasks for this week's sprint. I also showed team members how to use NPM to show the progress of the front end.
